Object

The National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild was organized in 1893, and has now four hundred centers, which reach forty-four cities. The main office is at 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

The object of the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild is to distribute flowers and plants, fresh and preserved fruits and vegetables, among the poor in settlement districts, hospitals and other charitable institutions.

To place window-boxes and establish gardens in poor districts, and to do all that is possible to cultivate a love for nature.

To aid those who live in the country to share their abundance with the dwellers in the city.

This we have been able to do through the generosity and courtesy of the Express Companies, but, this privilege having been withdrawn by the action of the Pennsylvania Legislature, we must look to our patrons and other friends for funds, if our work is to be continued.

Our Needs

Patrons, who pay annually $5.00 or more.
Associates, who pay annually at least $1.00.
Donors, who pay any sum at any time.
Any plants, flowers, fruit and vegetables you can spare us.

Will you not become a Collector or establish a Country Branch this spring?

Will you not send us the flowers from your greenhouse or the fruit and vegetables from your gardens while you are away?

If you have any surplus plants, preferably in bud or bloom, will you not send them in for the Plant Markets?

A postcard request sent to this office will bring you information about our plan of work for the coming season.

Please make checks payable to

Report of the President

The work of the Philadelphia Branch has gone on uneventfully and successfully during the past year. The chief item of interest is the growth and success of the Plant Markets.

In 1914 we held one; in 1915 we held four—one at The Lighthouse, Kensington, one at the Friends' Guild, one at the University Settlement House, and one at the College Settlement; the plants for which were donated by the Rittenhouse Square Plant Market Committee, through the Little Gardens; also two sales of left-overs at the Morton Street Day Nursery and the Southwark Neighborhood House. Some of them more than paid their expenses, others failed to do so, but the pleasure and enthusiasm with which our wares were greeted made those of us who were present feel that they were well worth having. Potted plants in bloom or in bud were most in demand. Few of our patrons had either yard space or patience for perennials, roots or seedlings; but window boxes, hanging baskets, cut flowers and potted plants (geraniums first of all) disappeared almost as soon as they were placed on the tables. We have learned by experience what are the demands at these markets, and hope to have even more and better ones in 1916.

In regard to the coming season, the Philadelphia Branch has been called upon to make an important decision. A new law of the Pennsylvania State Legislature prohibits free transportation of any express matter. Therefore, with the exception of three branches and several independent collectors outside the State, our work can no longer continue on the old basis.

At a meeting held on April 5th, it was decided to try the following experiment: To let each branch assume its own financial responsibility and pay charges on the baskets.

In the course of a summer, this will prove a heavy tax on almost all the branches, and we hope to have a general fund sufficiently large to aid those branches where flowers are more plentiful than funds.

For this reason, we earnestly hope that our former friends and patronesses will respond to this annual appeal. The pleasure that the Guild and its branches sends to institutions throughout the poorer parts of Philadelphia is very great. In future this can continue only if those of us who are able to see and have growing flowers will be generous enough to help to send them to those who know the country only by report.

Our organization is complete—we need money to pay the express charges formerly donated. This amounts to about fifty cents per hundred pounds. Our branches have heretofore sent a very great many thousand pounds of flowers and vegetables into the city.

We can only hope that our contributors will be sufficiently generous to make this possible for the coming season.

EMILY READ FOX,

President.
